Selection of Dairy Cattle Breeds Influenced by Shows

A good typical dairy cow

Patting on the milking machine

Many a man who is uneducated as to the breed of dairy cattle that he will select has been influenced in making his decision by the animals of a particular breed that he has seen in public.

The individual breeder secures a great deal of advertising as the result of exhibiting at fairs or in fairs. He gives people a chance to see and know the kind of stock that a man is breeding and paves the way for future business.

It is essential that special care and attention be given dairy cattle in advance of the time that they are to be exhibited or sold. Exhibitors or sellers should make it a point to see that every day clothes the poor animal and put them at a disadvantage when the competition is keen.

Sunny South Seneders Render Music at Dance

The dance on Tuesday night in the local theatre did not attract as large an attendance as expected. Threshing activities possibly being to some extent responsible. The orchestra was handicapped by the illness of their regular piano player, but clearly demonstrated that they are able to furnish a high-class of music at any dances they may be engaged for.

In passing through the Milo district, during our recent trip it was very noticeable the amount of summerfall crop. The farmers relying wholly on summerfall crops.

Tenth Fortnightly Crop Report

Issued by Dept. of Agriculture, September 3, 1926

Rains have continued to interfere with harvesting operations throughout the entire province since last report, although there has been intermittent warm weather in which cutting has been done. It is estimated that about one half of the wheat crop in the province is now cut. A large proportion is ready for the binder, but progress of harvesting is slow, due to the periodical rains which have been frequent.

The weather is at present cool and showery, and unusually heavy rains are occurring in some districts. The effect of the precipitation on the uncut grain is not expected to be serious, and it may result in benefit to the later crops. The cut grain may suffer in quality if warm weather does not come soon. There has been no serious frost to date.

The prospects remain bright for a good yield of wheat. In many districts, yields of from 20 to 30 bush and even higher, are anticipated, while in the lighter districts the yields will be as low as seven to twelve bushels. The average over the province, it is estimated at present date, will be equally as large if not larger than last year. Prospects are for heavy yields of oats and barley, but at first expected, but these crops will be lighter than last year at least, and much of the oats for grain may be cut for green feed.

The averages in the various crops this year, as arrived at between the Dominion and provincial departments, are as follows:

Wheat—6,276,013 acres; oats for grain, 2,784,941 acres; oats for feed, 1,359,560 acres; barley, 513,000 acres; rye, 130,800, and flax, 5,000 acres. Wheat shows the greatest increase over 1925. The figures quoted are preliminary estimates, and are subject to revision when the crops are figured, taken in June, become available.

A shortage in harvest help has been reported, labor seemingly not being available to the extent of former years. It is hoped that with the delay caused by the rains, and with the arrival of later excursions, the situation will be remedied.

Rev. Whitmore Elected Chairman District Presbytery

Rev. N. W. Whitmore, who attended the Fall Presbytery meeting of the United Church at Medicine Hat, was given the honor of being elected Chairman of the Medicine Hat Presbytery. Shower For Bride

In honour of Miss Lucille Lambert, a bride-elect of the near future, a kitchen shower was given by Mrs. John Lynch at her home recently. The rooms were beautifully decorated for the occasion by a profusion of mauve and white flowers. The bride-elect was the recipient of many useful gifts, which were presented in a highly decorative manner by Miss Donald Lynch. During the course of the afternoon a delightful tea was served.—Calgary Herald.

RIGHT AND WRONG

The teacher had labored long and patiently to teach little Arthur the points of the compass.

"When you stand with your face to the north, your right hand is towards the east, your left towards the west, and your back towards the south, now tell me the directions. What is in front of you?"

After a thoughtful pause, little Arthur replied, "My stomach."

Defends Claim To Summerless Year 1927

Boston, Mass., Sept. 3.—Herbert J. Brown, long range weather forecaster, of Washington, still holds to his prediction that weather conditions during the next two crop seasons in the northern and southern hemispheres, may endanger the world's food supply. Writing in protest to the Boston Globe against misinterpretation of his remarks, he went into detailed explanation as follows:

"No one has made any forecast that either this year or next year would be 'summerless.' For three years past I have made forecasts that the crop season of 1926-1927 in the southern hemisphere, and the crop season of 1927 in the northern hemisphere, would witness a return to the conditions in 1916, the historically famous 'year without a summer.'"

"I have forecast repeatedly that crop conditions in the two hemispheres, as above outlined, will be seriously affected by abnormal weather as to endanger the food supply of the world. That means violent storms from heat to cold, from drought to floods. It means the wrong weather at the wrong time, and yet the so-called 'averages' of temperature and rainfall could be normal."

"To illustrate: over the north-east section of the United States and Canada, there was a snowstorm, June 17-19, 1916, followed later by freezing temperatures and the night of July 4, and during the first week of August. Yet there were intervals of warmth. What would be the effect on all crops—wheat, oats, barley, potatoes and vegetables, generally?—to have a repetition of that weather on approximately the same days in 1927? Would it not be disastrous? Would it not require the war power of the government fully exerted to avert famine? Remember that the world's weather center is generally all over Europe and into Asia in 1916, extending into North Africa and the West Indies. The records are so sufficient to show how far it extended into the unsettled west of North America."

"The markets are just discovering that I had forecast many months ago that the world is even now facing a shortage approximately a billion bushels. This includes wheat, rye, corn, barley and oats. In the United States, east of the Mississippi, tens of millions of bushels of winter wheat withered on the 20th of August, were sprouting in mid-September from insect and heavy rains."

Corn Show Prize List

The prize list of the Provincial Corn Show, which is to be held in Medicine Hat, November 11th and 12th, will be issued shortly and will be available from the office of the Secretary, Medicine Hat. Provision has been made for exhibits of all kinds of corn grown in the province classes being arranged for white and yellow flint, white and yellow dent, North-western Dent, Sweet corn and Popcorn. Two classes are also included for Howes Alberta Flint—the earliest variety grown in the province. One of the classes is open only to exhibitors north of township 30, and the other to those south of this line.

Eighty dollars in prize money and two trophies are offered as prizes in two classes to boys and girls. One of these is for yellow flint and one for white flint, ten ears to be exhibited in each class. To help the boys and girls make their selections and properly judge their corn a special circular has been prepared by James Murray, district agriculturist, and issued by the Dept. of Agriculture. Copies of this may be secured by writing to Mr. Murray, at Medicine Hat.

In Laneshire and Yorkshire, Eng., the older of the farm houses have two kitchens. One is occupied by the servants, while in the second the farmer and his friends, with their dogs, pass the evening. It is the only room which the dogs are allowed to enter. It is also used as a gun-room.—Farm Feeding, Eng.

Hon. Mackenzie King Pays Tribute To Memory Of Late G. H. Boivin

Statenon—"I have only this to say of Mr. Boivin, that he died as he lived, placing his life as a sacrifice on the altar of his country," said Sir Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in the course of a campaign meeting. The Liberal leader dealt with the charges which had been made against the late minister of customs during the last parliament, referring to them as "one of the most vicious attacks ever brought against the character of a public man." Mr. King quoted words of Mr. Boivin's defence in the house in June and reminded the people of Canada of their debt to him in public life.

Mr. King paused in the speech to say: "I wish to discuss the national loss which our country has suffered through the death of one of our ablest public servants. I refer to our old colleague, Mr. Boivin. I am scarcely that myself," he said, "very much of Mr. Boivin on this occasion. Word of his death came to me as a great shock and I have been writing to all his friends and colleagues, but I think you and the country would expect me to say a few words about one who was so widely known."

"Mr. Boivin was one of the youngest men in public life. He was first elected to the House of Commons in 1911, and was re-elected in 1917, 1921 and 1925. Although he did not belong to the same party as Sir Robert Borden, when it came to choosing a deputy speaker he asked Mr. Boivin if he would accept this office, and Mr. Boivin, with the chivalry characteristic of his race, asked Sir Wilfrid Laurier if he should accept the position. Sir Wilfrid told him 'he should accept it, saying he was one of the few men who had a wide knowledge of parliamentary rules and procedure, and a thorough command of both languages.'"

"When I was called on to form a ministry, I asked Mr. Boivin to be minister of customs. My reason for asking him was that I knew there was an unfortunate condition in the department, a condition which required a minister who would give his time and attention in the most energetic way to the affairs. Mr. Bureau had been ill for a year and as a consequence in part there was need for a minister who would take up the work in the most zealous way. Mr. Boivin accepted the post with the work with an ardor and zeal that has not been exceeded by a minister in any part of Canada."

Prince Addresses Scientists

Makes Presidential Address To Formidable Audience At Oxford

Oxford, Eng.—The Prince of Wales came back to the scenes of his student days and delivered an address before the famed British association of scientists, a formidable audience of 1,000 men, made up of the most learned minds of the field of science in England.

The Prince, who was made president of the association, in his presidential address, the first member of the royal family to be honored with this distinction since 1859, when his grandfather, Prince Consort Albert, held a similar post.

The Prince spoke on the relationship between science and the state. He indicated his belief that science is the key to prosperity and hinted that science might play the part of the world's industrial power.

Bail Is Refused

Toronto.—With funds as high as $10,000 offered as bail, the case of the sixteen under arrest in Ontario in connection with the deaths of alcoholic poisoning, the attorney-general's department is adamant in its refusal to allow bail to any of those concerned.

Government Takes Action In Effort Towards The Suppression Of Smuggling

Ottawa.—Action towards putting into effect the recommendations of the customs probe towards the reorganization of the department of customs is being continued. While no announcement of the contemplated changes is yet forthcoming, it is probable that a statement in the matter will be available within the next few days.

Overseas League Gives Dinner To Willington

Canada's New Governor-General Assured of Heartly Welcome

London.—Viscount Willington, who will succeed Lord Byng as Governor-General of Canada in the fall, and Lady Willington, were guests of honor at a dinner given by the Overseas League at the Hotel Cecil. The dinner was attended by 250 delegates, chiefly women of Canadian universities now visiting England.

The chairman, Sir Campbell Stuart, Canadian-born director of The Times Publishing Company, assured Lord Willington his Canadian days would never be dull and that he would return to England at the end of his term, like all his predecessors, a great Canadian. Sir Campbell told the Canadian women present they were fortunate in their governor-general's wife. The women of Canada, he said, offered Lord and Lady Willington a true Canadian welcome to their Canadian home.

Viscount Willington thanked the Canadian visitors for their excellent greetings and said he hoped they would be able to convince him that the Mother Country was very much alive and a worthy mother of her great daughters growing to be great nations.

Besides this, he continued, Rumania and Bulgaria had very good crops. A large part of which would be exported. Moreover, Poland, owing to lack of foreign exchange, would be compelled to export rice in large quantities at low prices, thus competing with Russia.

Importing countries like Italy and Germany, he explained, would be obliged because of their financial position to restrict their purchases sharply.

Honored At Welsh Ceremony

Duke and Duchess of York Members Of Gorsedd Order of Bard

Swansea.—A throng of 15,000 witnessed a notable ceremonial at the Welsh National Eisteddfod, in which the Duke and Duchess of York were initiated into the Gorsedd Order of Bard.

The Duke, in his graceful manner, expressed gratitude for the privileges.

The Duke and Duchess, wearing green silk robes, entered at a trumpet blast. After being welcomed, they were invested with the flowing head dress of the order.

The Duchess also spoke briefly in English, and then added the Welsh equivalent for "Thank you very much."

Quebec Candidates

Quebec.—Candidates in the federal election field at the present time in the province of Quebec are as follows: Liberals, 32; Conservatives, 8; Independents, 1.

These men on the boundary constituted the first immediate step of the plan of putting into effect the recommendations of the customs probe towards the reorganization of the department of customs. They are under instructions to co-operate with all customs officials for the suppression of smuggling.

Reduction of the number of ports of entry, it is rumored, may shortly be brought about. This was one of the main planks of the investigation with which the committee dealt in its report.

King Speaks At Prince Albert Address Large Gathering Of Electors In His Own Constituency

Prince Albert.—Before an audience of 2,000 citizens of Prince Albert and district, Sir Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal chief of Canada and representative in parliament of this constituency, in an address here, raised his audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm by stating that the story broadcast by A. J. Doxey, Conservative member for Kent County, that Lord Lapointe and other members of the King Government had been in a vicious "joy ride" in the steamer Margat, had been proven to be without traces of truth. "The Conservative broadcast of Arthur Melgren have been compelled to publicly state that this story, told by Mr. Doxey in the press," said Mr. King, "is not a shred of truth in it."

Mr. Melgren was asked by Mr. Lapointe to deny it as Mr. Lapointe gave his word of honor there was no truth in it. Yet would have thought any man who had a sense of decency would accept the word of a member of parliament. Did Mr. Melgren do so? He did not. He is not capable of accepting the word of honor of a gentleman."

Russia Has Keen Competition

Will Have Some Trouble Exporting Grain This Year

Moscow.—Despite the prospect of an excellent harvest, says S. G. Bugne, managing director of Russia's biggest state grain export corporation, the country's export of grain this year because of the rivalry with the United States which, he adds, is already exporting its surplus.

Besides this, he continued, Rumania and Bulgaria had very good crops. A large part of which would be exported. Moreover, Poland, owing to lack of foreign exchange, would be compelled to export rice in large quantities at low prices, thus competing with Russia.

Importing countries like Italy and Germany, he explained, would be obliged because of their financial position to restrict their purchases sharply.

Girl Conquers English Channel To Perform Feat

Miss Gertrude Ederle Is First Woman To Swim The English Channel

Kingdom.—The 19-year-old New York girl, swimming the grim waters in 14 hours and 21 minutes, thus became the first of her sex to accomplish the feat which had been performed by only five men before her. She left Cape Gris Nez at 10:30 a.m. and landed at Kingsdown, near Deal, at 2:40 o'clock.

Besides being the first woman to swim the Channel, Miss Ederle set a new record for the feat, the best previous time being made by Sebastian Traverset of Italy, who swam from Calais to Dover on August 11 and 12, 1912, in sixteen hours and 22 minutes.

Miss Ederle walked triumphantly up the beach between the little villages of Kingsdown and Walmer Castle, quite strong and fresh. The last few hundred yards of the swim were watched from the shore by thousands of visitors from all parts of the country. They had collected all available material to build a bonfire on the beach to guide the plucky girl as she neared her goal.

Thus she finished the feat in a blaze of light for the goal, as the cheering throng burst flames and displayed searchlights.

Source Of Poison Alcohol

Death Dealing Deception Shipped From New York Warehouse

Buffalo, N.Y.—Federal agents located a warehouse on the west side, in New York city, from which was shipped the poisonous alcohol which caused the death of nearly 50 persons in western New York and Ontario. This information was contained in a telegram received from Frank J. Hale, federal supervisor of alcohol control, in Williams E. Dunn Jr. and Joseph Spoz, members of his squad.

Chief Hale was informed that one man, a German citizen, had been arrested on an alleged member of the ring of distributors of poison liquor, which shipped 4,000 gallons to this city, in September 11, 1915 and 16, had been imported from Germany. The deaths resulted when the ordinary methods of rectifying denatured alcohol failed to succeed with the German alcohol.

Stolen Roman Coins Returned

London.—Twenty of the 21 stolen Roman Imperial gold coins, stolen recently from the Victoria and Albert Museum, have been returned to the curator of the institution by the person who purchased them, not knowing they had been stolen. No arrests have been made. The coins are from 1,700 to 2,500 years old.

Another Gold Find In Ontario

Among Most Important In Recent Years Is Report

Toronto.—A spectacular discovery in the vicinity of Norrow Lake, some 20 to 25 miles northeast of Red Lake, in the district of Patricia, is reported by Jack Lindsay, who has just returned from that district showing samples of gold, and which are expected to render the find among the most important discoveries made in recent years.

Mr. Lindsay is at present in Toronto. The discovery was stated by Tom Hamilton, Ontario.

The news of the discovery has been followed by a rush of men from Lindsay and Red Lake during the last few days.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe And Hon. Jacques Bureau Are Cleared Of Any Charges

Quebec.—Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former minister of Justice, and Hon. Jacques Bureau, former minister of customs, were declared innocent of all charges of having been involved in a "joy ride" on board the customs steamer Margat, at a special inquiry opened here before Sir Francis Lacombe, R. L. Calder, government counsel, and W. P. O'Connor, as associated with him, and also Inspector Walter Duggan, who probed Margat's curious conditions for the late government, gave the exoneration. They were only to be produced the 108 hours of the Margat's while, through misunderstanding on the part of Mr. Calder, is in Ottawa. An interim report will thereafter be made by the courts.

Government of Abyssinia Appeals To League of Nations

London.—The British Government is greatly embarrassed by the public appeal of the League of Nations by Ras Tafari, Regent of Abyssinia, against the Anglo-Italian treaty, concluded without the knowledge of Abyssinia, by which Great Britain gives away "positive economic influence" in the west of Abyssinia to Italy in return for Italy's undertaking to support the British claim to control of the waters of Lake Tazara in connection with her plans for the irrigation of the Sudan.

All number states of the league are reacting from Abyssinia's appeal of the noise sent to Abyssinia by Lord and Roon, together with a note stating that such claims and undertakings constitutes a pressure incompatible with Abyssinian independence and membership in the League of Nations.

The Abyssinian report asks the member states for their opinion on the British-Italian deal.

Postpone Conference On Child Welfare

Date Scheduled Came In Week Of Federal Election

Ottawa.—The sixth annual Canadian conference on child welfare, which was scheduled for Vancouver, B.C., on October 11, 12 and 13, has been postponed on decision of the executive members and the British Columbia committee on arrangements.

It was not desired to hold the sessions during the week of the federal elections, and efforts to convene the conference following the election were abandoned when it was found impossible to transfer some of the most important speakers, including Sir Henry Gauvin, of London, England, to a later date.

The conference has therefore been indefinitely postponed, but the conference secretary, Miss Charlotte Whitton, of Ottawa, will leave for the west early in October to arrange for the holding of the sessions on a later date. The annual meeting of the child welfare council will be held in Ottawa during October.

Thinks India Should Have Gold Standard

But Royal Commission Would Not Put Gold In Circulation

London.—The royal commission appointed last year to examine Indian money and exchange has issued a report advocating a true gold standard by linking the existing currency with gold in a completely visible manner, but without putting gold into circulation. It is claimed by the commission that its proposals open a large part of the introduction of gold currency some time in the future, but it foresees that when the time comes India may no longer wish for a gold currency.

"Still we begin with 'buddy'!" Brandon asked, and they did. Joanna sought him out on the floor as Brandon explained him—drawing for her a picture of a woman—she was a picture she classified as of a romantic title in a colorful domain.

A barbed wire at Palm Beach where he was lost to that company of women whose husbands laid at home for the money with which they were blossoming gorgeous and rich—hereafter the Florida pinks, and make their plays at Bally's, America's great gambling room, a town of debauches whose names alone golden in the parlors of society, and the amused dabbler among the study notes of New York's Green-Village, a sportsman in England, where he hunted, occasionally, with the hands of a country lord, and a few others, not all of them good and the better that in France.

"A woman never need fear of being seen with my Ruby in attendance then?" said Brandon, all to his general surprise. "This affair is no more than one keeps track of them in the morning. Interested in a new one, she just the proper perspective of any young woman's background, for to be admitted by Ruby is a cachet of extremely modern worthiness."

"But his business—couldn't he really do anything?" Joanna wanted to know.

"He's of a family, you know. In London, I mean. Brandon's question came quick explain that it is the duty of the generation to can help those of the generation who can't, say the price of their education. "His affairs are no more than one keeps track of them in the morning. Interested in a new one, she just the proper perspective of any young woman's background, for to be admitted by Ruby is a cachet of extremely modern worthiness."

THIS WOMAN NOW WELL

Her Suffering Relieved and Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I am certainly very grateful for the benefit I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, also the Sanative Wash and the Liver Pills. In the early spring I was suffering so much from the loss of blood that I could never have any better as doctor's medicine relieved me all the time being. I got the Vegetable Compound advertised in the Toronto Star, and I find the Vegetable Compound the best for me. I am now taking them by me. I intend keeping them by me all the time. After reading the Toronto Text-Book I saw it was necessary to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, and I can safely say I feel a different woman. My friends remark how well I look. I am a very busy woman, but I am ready at all times to boost your medicine. Mrs. Charles Giffen, 48 Landsdown Avenue, Toronto, Ont. I have been having an experience similar to Mrs. Giffen's and will be interested to know what she did. Every sick woman can feel confident that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help her, since we are told that it does help out of every 100 women who take it. Sold by druggists everywhere. C

A Wonderful Camera

More Wonderful in Some Ways Than the Human Body

There is a camera in London which is capable of recording pictures at the rate of 2000 a minute. Strangers that man can make machines more wonderful in some ways than the human body. The human eye is in comparison with the camera, cannot receive more than thirty impressions in a second. The new camera is 100 times as fast. Let a man be blown up by a charge of powder and this speedy camera will take a picture of the explosion which will show the particles of the vase being blown from the centre.

Shall we not have a camera some day which will detect the madly whirling atoms and electrons? Shall we not have a machine which will show us what the scientists already know—that matter is force?

When we have learned to use atomic energy the steam age will seem as out of date as the stone age.—GEO. PATTERSON (Duluth Herald).

Joanna regarded him with her defenses quivering at her finger tips. "Of course they would—some would," she indignantly agreed. "People are always flouting fact if you are not like they are, or no like they think you ought to be. What is one's life for, if not to be enjoyed?"

"And having a good time isn't necessarily being wrong about it, you know? Is it?"

He met her plea for understanding sympathetically. "I can imagine no better bargain than unreflected existence allied with an unhampered pursuit of one's own desires, and old-fashioned notions to hang round it."

"Well," Joanna considered, "that sounds as if you mean that I have the right idea about things, so I suppose it's all right. Anyhow I don't see why people can't say their prayers with a smile as well as they can with a frown."

To that sentiment, Brandon proposed, "I suggest another cocktail. He produced Kenneth's silver flask from under a vest-pocket and filled her glass. She smiled across at him while she sipped, and felt that she had put up another good battle for the rights of youth."

When Kenneth and Yvonne were again at the table Kenneth begged Joanna to send him. "If Brandon wrapped me in scandal and delivered me as a broken bird" while they were dancing.

"That is something I shall have to consider," Joanna returned. "If I told you were not at all dangerous, I should be giving you the same message. I shan't be at all afraid of you."

"And that is both a promise and a challenge. I accept both."

Joanna's smile came when Yvonne proposed to her that she come to her own place and make it her home. "For time, anyway. You will want to see the place, and I shall have to have you with me—as long as you wish."

What Kenneth had said flashed across her mind, his prediction of just this invitation. She glanced that she caught a flicker of his eyes when she glanced at him. For one brief instant the vision of John framed in her mind, she thought, but she did not quickly when she had shaken her eyes to the side, to drive it away. Any thought of John had become unpleasant.

Interesting Facts In Government "Blue Book"

London Police

Every year, says a writer in a London paper, the police take a census of the number of habitual criminals at large.

The last figures given in a government "Blue Book" just published, show that nearly three thousand persons regularly commit crimes for a living.

There were also 311 houses of receivers of stolen goods "known to the police."

There are any number of interesting facts in the official reports.

For instance, many people believe that the death sentences can be passed only in connection with murder.

However, the sentence may be pronounced for treason, piracy, or for sending fire to a government ship or vessel.

Legal crimes include such as, a childless man of 50 years old, still in the force, though they are seldom or never carried out.

Under a very old clause any person "travelling by boat" on a Sunday is liable to punishment, whether there is an act just over three hundred years old that forbids anyone to leave his house on a Sunday to engage in "sports or pastimes" elsewhere.

Miller's Worm Powders are a prompt relief from the attacks of worms, which tend to be powerful in the first stages, and while expelling, have an invigorating effect upon the youthful system; remedying fever, biliousness, constipation, sleeplessness, and other ailments that follow disorders caused by worms in the stomach and bowels.

Prince Bets $5 No One Would Recognize Him On Street

The Prince of Wales, after looking for a sympathetic arbitrator to settle a bet.

Leaving his apartment at St. James' Palace for an evening out, a friend who accompanied him sympathized with him because he could not go about unrecognized like ordinary people.

"I bet you $5 nobody recognizes me," said the prince, and Trafalgar Square—about five blocks away—Wales replied.

The bet was taken. Wales and his friend went to Trafalgar Square, and the prince, who was not recognized, then a woman stared hard at Wales, and the friend claimed the bet.

"She didn't recognize me, or she would have been too polite to stare," Wales responded, and the bet remained unsettled.

How London Zoo Started

Natural History Enthusiasts Responsible For Present Valuable Collection

The London Zoological Society originally consisted of fifteen natural history enthusiasts, who met at regular intervals to discuss animals.

Eventually they decided to rent a site in Regent's Park, where fish could be reared, waterfowl bred, and a small menagerie of animals kept—the beginning of the London Zoo.

Today the collection numbers some thousands of animals, birds and other creatures—and is worth untold wealth. The first animals to be brought from abroad by one of the Zoo's emissaries—nowadays called the world for specimens—were those captured in the Falkland Islands by a keeper named Leconte.

When he returned with one seal, a wolf, a goose and two gulls, everyone went wild with excitement, and Leconte became the hero of the hour.

The Zoo's first hippopotamus, a species of animal that has always been one of the biggest "draws," arrived in Regent's Park just three-quarters of a century ago.

Orchestral Effect Produced By Wind Under Certain Conditions

We are so accustomed to man-made music that we seldom realize that the wind has a way of producing music of its own. In the Malay States there are fields of bamboo that produce a sound that from afar strikes the ear like a huge orchestra of flutes.

The effect is caused by a small wind which blows holes in the bamboo stems; the wind, blowing through the holes, produces an astonishing variety of notes that sometimes blend in one great operatic symphony.

Another form of outdoor orchestra is to be found on the Scottish coast, which has been, in one district, produces distinct musical notes when walked on or struck by a stick.

Water, in certain circumstances, is capable of yielding extremely pleasing musical effects, a fact realized by the ancient Greeks, who had a number of musical instruments operated solely by water. Certain North American tribes of Indians make music by filling buffalo hides with water and beating them with sticks.

Woman Runs Paper Mill

Swedish Woman Has Handled Business Successfully For Years

A Swedish woman, who owns and successfully operates a pulp and paper mill in the northern part of Sweden, Panny Tander, formerly of Canada, visited a visitor in Winnipeg on her way to Edmonton, where she hopes to persuade one of six sons to return home with her. Mrs. Tander was widowed in 1910, and has since headed her husband's business with an annual output of 150,000 tons of paper, which is sold in Sweden and England.

Seed Selection by the Farmer

The term "seed selection" necessarily includes a choice of variety as well as the selection of seed of that variety. Every farmer should ask himself these two questions: Am I growing the best variety? Am I using the best possible seed of that variety?

Seed selection is not only suitable for certain districts than others; it will also greatly increase the yield of a quality of crop which will demand a better market; or will be more suitable for feeding requirements. It pays to solicit the advice of the nearest experimental station, agricultural college or agricultural agent regarding the varieties which are likely to give the best results, and then to test out a few of these beside the old sort.

Once a really desirable variety has been located the most important question to settle is how to obtain and maintain a supply of good seed of this variety. It is safe to use only pure seed of high vitality, and uniform in quality, free
from disease and well matured.

When a change of seed is necessary it should be obtained from the best source available.
Registered seed should be secured if at all possible as this is the highest grade of seed recognised commercially. It is desirable to improve a variety, a simple method is to go through the field at harvest time, and select a large number of heads from plants which are strong, vigorous, free from disease and uniform in type. It is very important that the selection of identical heads be observed, or the resulting crop may not be uniform. These heads may be threshed in a bag, using a big round sieve, and the seed carefully cleaned and graded with a fanning-mill. The seed should be sown in a special plot of about one-quarter of an acre on clean land to increase the supply. It has been demonstrated many times that seed produced by this method, with careful and efficient use of a good fanning-mill, may pay for the trouble many times over.

—Experimental Farms Note.

Select Seed Corn Early

This is the time of year that attention must be given to the selection of a supply of seed corn. It is seldom safe to leave this work after the first ten days of September. Comparatively light frosts injure the vitality of corn when it is full of moisture, as it is at this season of the year, and the best way is to gather at least a limited supply as soon as it is sufficiently mature to make strong seed.

Seed of the flint varieties
such as Genu, Squaw and Dakota White Flint can be gathered and stored as soon as it is plugged and that of the dent varieties when it shows signs of denting. When pulled at this early stage there is considerable shrinkage but if it is carefully cured the germination will be good. If it is pulled before it has reached the stages mentioned the shrinkage is so excessive that it is of little value for seed.

Careful curing is all important. Even when well matured the grain and the cob contain a high percentage of moisture, and it is very important that this be drawn off as quickly and as thoroughly as possible.
If the ears are thrown in a pile when gathered, mould quickly develops, and the seed is ruined. The husks should be stripped back or removed as soon as the corn is gathered and the ears hung up in small bunches or placed in a wire rack so that they do not touch one another and where there is a free circulation of air around them. To place them on a floor is poor practice as they are apt to mould on the lower side.

Various methods of curing corn are described and illustrated in a circular entitled the Selection and Curing of Seed Corn recently issued by the Dept. of Agriculture. The circular was prepared by James Murray, district agriculturalist, Medicine Hat, and copies may be had by writing his office.

CHEVROLET

Value Means More,
than Price Alone!

THE price of a car is what you pay—the value is what you get.
Value is the combination of Quality and Price.

Notwithstanding the recent remarkable reductions in Chevrolet prices, Chevrolet does not aim to be the cheapest car in its class. It does aim —and is justly considered—
the greatest value in its class.

The smooth Chevrolet is outstanding value, not only because it costs you less—but because it gives you more—more smoothness of performance—more power and speed
—more instant responsiveness—more striking beauty of line and finish—more richness of upholstery—more completeness of appointments.

To pay less than the price of the smooth Chevrolet is to sacrifice quality. To pay more for a car in the Chevrolet class is needless extravagance.

The Smoothest Chevrolet is Chevrolet history is selling at the lowest price for which Chevrolet has ever been sold in Canada.

Ask your Chevrolet dealer about the GMAC Plan of buying a car on time.
